

IIPA needs to have futuristic vision for next 25 years: MoS

By TIOL News Service

HAIRING

e meeting of the Executive buncil of the Indian Institute of Public Administration (IIPA) here yesterday, the MoS, Dr. Jitendra Singh, called preparing a roadmap to detelop the Indian Institute of Public Administration (IIPA) as a wide-based Resource Hub for all aspects related to vernance and administration so that it can gain the esteem it deserves as a premier institute.

The Union Minister said that the institute has to have a futuristic vision for the next 25 years to attain the goals set by Prime Minister Narendra Modi and, to achieve this, the institute needs to have an integrated approach to work in cohesion with similar departments/organizations/setups and entities with similar scope and focus, related to training, administrative expertise. He said that being all-inclusive and open will help IIPA attain its deserved glory.

Underlining the significance and need of having serving civil servants as members of the IIPA, Dr. Jitendra Singh said, such a practice will help transform the organization with the knowledge and practical experiences of such members. He advocated bringing experts and special invitees from different streams on board so that the IIPA can become a go-to institute with certain expertise for other government organizations and even corporate sector organizations, in the times to come. The Minister highlighted the importance of having a scientific approach in all spheres of administration and IIPA.

